We often talk and dream about the coveted “work-life balance.” Yet when attorneys and other professionals have distractions outside of the workplace, work product or commitment may suffer. What if there was a way to say NO and maintain work-life balance in a manner that positively impacts your career and home life, and allows you to be fully present, focused and fulfilled both at work and at home? Join us for a program designed to help you learn to say NO to elevate your workplace relationship and create necessary personal boundaries. The presentation includes a catered lunch. Free valet parking.
